LIBERTY BOND BOOSTERS BOOST

Rain Necessitates the Holding of Meeting in Opera House ---Large Crowd Out

SPEAKERS ENTHUSE CROWD

In spite of the very unfavorable weather of last Saturday afternoon, the auto parade of Liberty loan boosters arrived in Antioch on schedule time. Just at the time when the weather was the most threatening and all hope of their coming had been abandoned, it was learned through the telephone central that the "bunch" was at Libertyville and were headed this way. A phone call was immediately sent them at Grayslake to the effect that if they came to Antioch a hall would be open to receive them. Their answer was "we will be there in an hour" and in just about that time they were here.

In the meantime Rev. Pollock and his well trained Boy Scouts got busy and besides setting the church and school bells in motion to tell the people that the parade was coming, the boys divided themselves in groups and made a tour of the village, stopping at every door and telling the people that the meeting would be held in the opera house. As a result of their efforts a large crowd gathered, and when the visitors arrived they were met with a hearty welcome.

Although it was a hastily arranged affair, it was declared by all present to have been one of the best meetings held in Antioch in many a month. After a march on Main street the formal session began in the opera house. The first speaker of the program was Attorney King who plainly showed the people in what direction their duty lay. He was followed by Attorney Diver who brought with him an unlimited amount of facts and figures and by his clever illustrations succeeded in bringing the war and its meaning close to the hearts of many of our citizens.

Lieutenant Jenney now stationed at Camp Grant, then took the platform and in very plain words told the people the only way to win the war was to loosen their purse strings. C. H. Burnett, County Chairman of the Liberty Loan Sales Committee, then said a few words to the people and thanked them for their attendance, after which the band gave a couple more selections and the meeting was disbanded. Upon leaving the hall everyone was surprised at the length of time the speaking had taken up, for so interesting was it that the time passed all too quickly.

The boosters were scheduled to appear at Zion City at 6:15 o'clock, but as they did not leave Antioch until about that time they were obliged to cancel the Zion City date and return direct to Waukegan where a banquet and an evening meeting had been planned. There is no question but that the sale of Liberty Bonds throughout the county was much increased by the Saturday's work of these men.

Sabin for members of the board. There being no opposition the entire ticket was elected. The grade school election was held in the evening and there too, there was no opposition. Geo. Bartlett was elected for President, Mrs. Chas. Alvera and A. Renner for members of the board.

Patriotic Address for Women

During this period of the war where all interest is directed towards the noble young men who have left our country to go and fight for a great cause, where people are busy in Red Cross work, we must be careful not to neglect those venerable old men who fought in 1892 to preserve the Union. There will be two representatives of the Women's Relief Corps at the Simons house Saturday afternoon at four o'clock to address the ladies of Antioch. It is hoped that a large number will

GOD AND GOT

By Wilbur D. Nesbit

Who soothes the sighs of sorrow
And heals the hurts of pain?
Who gives us for the morrow
The songs we sing again?
Who taught us love for others?
Who guards us as we roam?
Who links our hands as brothers
And sanctifies the home?

Who girds our souls with sureness
That we may cast out fear?
Who blesses woman's pureness
And bids us hold it dear?
Oh, whispered in our praying
From cradle to the sod
Our name—our faith displaying—
The hallowed name of God!

Who teaches torture's terror
And laughs at lies and loot?
Who holds no faith is fairer
Than one to shame a brute?
To whom are women shrieking
And sobs of children maimed
As sweet as some one speaking
Of those both loved and famed?

Who spurns the ill and lowly
That falter at his gate?
Who holds supremely holy
The hoarsest curse of hate?
Oh, bestial, hellish being—
On God's great name a blot!
Unthinking and unseeing,
The Prussians call it Gott!

One Hundred and Forty-Two Years of Labor and Struggle

THE American people fought their first battles for liberty and the rights of self-government one hundred and forty-two years ago.

At that time, and for many years thereafter, their realization of their national aspirations and of the goal toward which they were really striving was vague and indistinct. But step by step they struggled onward and upward toward a light which grew clearer as their eyes and minds slowly opened to its significance. Today, as a result of their struggles and their sacrifices, we possess and enjoy our priceless American institutions.

These institutions must be preserved. The structure so laboriously reared in these one hundred and forty-two years will be utterly destroyed if we do not spring to its defense with every atom of our energy and determination. This is not a situation which may be trifled with, or evaded, or put off. It is one which must be met now—today—no matter what sacrifices it may entail, or what the cost may be.

A Letter From a Soldier in France

The following letter was received by Mrs. Chas. Rudolph from her brother Harold who is now in France:

France, 3. 25, 1918.
Dear Sister, Brother and all:
Received your welcome letter today and was very glad to hear from you, also to hear that all are well. No doubt you have received my last letter stating that I arrived safely in France; and find it all that I expected, it certainly is a very pretty country, that is, where it is not torn to pieces. After here almost a year I will get a two weeks leave and as I spent last (Xmas) leave in London; I am going to see Paris next time, and if I am lucky enough to do so I surely will have something to remember.

How is the milk situation there, I hope the farmers get a fair deal, as this is no time for trouble of any kind at home. They must all stand united until this thing is won. My greatest hope is that all of you "over there" will try and double your production of food stuffs this year and every year until the boys return. Show the world what the U. S. OUR DEFENSE

In the spring we may be attacked at any moment. Toxic poisons pile up within us after a hard winter, and we feel "run-down," tired out, blue and discouraged. This is the time to put our house in order—cleanse the system and put fresh blood into our arteries. You can obtain an alternative extract from Blood root, Golden Seal, Stone and Queen's root, Cherry bark, rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This blood tonic, in tablet or liquid form, is just what you need for "Spring Fever," for that lack of ambition. It will fill you full of vim, vigor and vitality.

Chilliness, when other people feel warm enough, is a sign of biliousness, or of malarial poisons—so is a furrowed or coated tongue, loss of appetite, headaches or giddiness, and a dull, drowsy, debilitated feeling. It's your liver wants to stimulate it and invigorate it with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. With every trouble of the things act like a miracle. You can break up sudden attacks of Colds, Fevers, Influenza, with fit for indigestion, Stomach, Sick Headache, and Dizziness. Germans Make Big Attack Against U. S. Men at Seicheprey.

ALL POSITIONS RECAPTURED; HEAVY LOSSES FOR ENEMY

Berlin Claims 183 Americans and 25 Machine Guns Were Taken—British Artillery Breaks Up Foe's Attempt to Push Way Through Lines on Northern Battle Front—Allies Mow Down Huns in Fierce Fighting Around Givenchy—Italian Troops Arrive in France.

Washington, April 23.—The battle of Seicheprey, where the American soldiers met the assaults of the German shock troops, was a victory for our forces, but cost us the heaviest casualties since we entered the war.

In a dispatch to the war department General Pershing indicates our losses were more than 200, and we accounted for between 300 and 400 Germans killed, wounded and prisoners. However, press dispatches say 300 German dead were left on the field.

Exact figures on our losses are not forthcoming. In the absence of official confirmation of the details of the message we are given to understand that at the time the report was filed Pershing had not succeeded in checking up the approximate figures given above.

Regain Lost Ground.
With the American Army in France, April 22.—Twelve hundred German storm troops, the largest number ever concentrated against the American troops for an offensive operation, were hurled against the American position on a one-mile front west of Renneville, northwest of Toul.

The attack followed a terrific bombardment of gas and high-explosive shells. The enemy succeeded in penetrating the front line trenches and taking the village of Seicheprey, but after furious hand-to-hand fighting the American troops recaptured the village and all of the ground lost in the early fighting. The Germans suffered heavy casualties.

Pour Hot Fire Into Huns.
The Germans came across No. Man's Land in three waves. They had been specially trained for this operation. The Americans, although greatly outnumbered, fought for every inch of the way, giving ground slowly and pouring a deadly machine gun, rifle and automatic fire into the advancing enemy.

Germans Use Gas Shells.
The German barrage began just before sunrise after a heavy bombardment on the American front and rear position in the course of the night. In an attempt to put the American batteries out of action the Germans used an unusually large number of gas shells, but the American artillery replied vigorously, hurling hundreds of shells across the Teuton lines.

A counter-barrage set down by the Americans caught the advancing Germans and killed a number of them before they had an opportunity to reach the American trenches.

The Germans entered the shell-torn village of Seicheprey in the forenoon, but only remained a short time, being driven out again by a brilliant counter-attack made by the American infantry. The commander of one unit holding an outpost reported at one stage of the attack that his men were "fighting every inch of the way."

Huns Are Driven Out.
Paris, April 22.—The French lines north of Seicheprey, where the Germans began a heavy attack against French and Americans have been completely re-established, according to the war office announcement.

Berlin Claims 183 Prisoners.
Berlin, April 22.—The capture of 183 American prisoners and 25 machine guns by the Germans is claimed in the official report from headquarters. The German storm troops, it also is declared, advanced to a depth of two kilometers (about a mile and a quarter) into the American lines at Seicheprey. The Americans, the statement adds, sustained heavy losses.

Huns Face Starvation.
Ottawa, Ont., April 23.—That 1,500,000 German soldiers are cut off from rations and starving in the big drive is reported in a Reuter dispatch. It reads: "All the enemy's onslaughts hitherto have failed to attain their object, owing to the impossibility of using reserves, and resulted in the bottling up of 1,500,000 men in the triangle of Hazebrouck, Amiens and Noyon. These troops, originally supplied with a week's rations, are virtually starving in a devastated region, which is difficult to revictual, as the ground is marshy and pitted with shell holes constantly under fire."

British Win on Three Fronts.
London, April 23.—The British advanced their lines slightly in local operations on both of the principal battle fronts, the war office announced. Gains were made near Villers-Bretonneux and Albert, on the Somme front, and Robecq, at the tip of the Flanders salient.

A strong local attack by the Germans on the front north of Albert was repulsed after the enemy had captured one of the British advanced posts.

British Guns Stop Foe.
London, April 22.—German troops made an attempt to push their way through the British lines northeast of Ypres, on the northern battle front. The advancing troops were stopped by the fire of the British artillery, says the war office statement.

On the remainder of the British front there were minor operations. French Take Several Guns.
Paris, April 22.—A French attack northeast of Bethune, on the Flanders battle front, resulted in the capture of several German cannon, it was announced here. The enemy gained a footing in trenches near St. Mihiel, but was ejected by a counter-attack. Airmen conducted several successful operations against the Germans.

British Make Gains.
London, April 22.—The British gained all their objectives in their counter-attacking in Flanders, advancing their defenses at Givenchy and Festubert and re-establishing their positions.

Nine machine guns, a trench mortar and prisoners were taken by the British in a local operation south of the Scarpe river, the war office announced. A German counter-attack was repulsed.

In Flanders the British ejected the Germans from advanced positions gained by them in Thursday's attack in the region of Givenchy and Festubert.

In sharp fighting southeast of Robecq the British drove back German attacking parties. Active fighting operations have halted for the time being while each side prepares for the next onslaught. It is not improbable that the Germans again will attack, either in Picardy or in Flanders-Artois, while over every move they make hangs the menace of the allied reserve army and a counter-offensive.

Unfavorable weather has settled down upon the northern battlefield, but up to the present the Germans have selected mist and rain and cold periods as opportune for striking, and the lull in their attacks is due more probably to their appalling losses.

British Make Gain.
London, April 22.—The British advanced slightly between Arras and Albert, says an official report. In counter-attacks at Givenchy and Festubert the British gained all their objectives.

British Regain Ground.
With the British Army in France, April 20.—Exhausted by the failure of Thursday's heavy attack on the Givenchy-La Bassée canal front, the Germans made no further moves during the night, and on the greater part of the Flanders battle front quiet prevailed Friday morning. The British re-established their line west of Robecq, on the southwestern tip of the Lys battle front field by recapturing ground at Rixel du Vinage farm Thursday afternoon.

Foe Suffers Heavy Losses.
London, April 20.—The Germans were completely repulsed in the attack they launched around Givenchy on the southern side of the Lys battle front, the war office announced. The assaults ceased after heavy losses, the enemy having only been able to secure a limited footing at one or two points of more advanced British defenses.

Six different German divisions, it has been determined, were engaged in the unsuccessful attack in the Givenchy-St. Vennat sector. The enemy launched further attacks south of Kemmel. These were broken up by the British artillery and machine gun fire.

Enemy attacks on the British lines in the northern part of the Lys battle area south of Kemmel were successfully repulsed, the war office announced.

Italians Reach French Front.
Washington, April 20.—Italian regiments already are in France and form the right wing of the allied armies, the Italian embassy announced today. The Italian force on the west front will be approximately 200,000 men, according to a member of the Italian high war commission here this afternoon. According to one high officer, "large units of Italian troops are now at the disposal of General Poch, constituting part of the allied army of maneuver."

French Win Ground.
Paris, April 19.—The French forces in the region of Amiens have captured a portion of Senecot wood and made advances against the Germans on several other sectors, according to the official communication issued by the war office.

VICTORY UP TO U. S.

Baker Reports to President Conditions at Front.

STRENGTH NEEDED AT ONCE

Secretary of War Takes Clear the Situation He Found in Europe and Tells of Immediate Aid Needed by the Allies.

Washington, April 12.—Victory over Germany is up to the United States, Secretary of War Baker, who has just returned from Europe, reported to President Wilson and the war council at the White House. Strength to accomplish victory must be furnished at once.

The conclusion forced by Secretary Baker's observations and experience at the battle front is that while great holding the Germans at bay, the rest of Germany depends upon the strength of the forces of the United States to the relief of the hard-pressed allies.

Secretary Baker brought home the president and the war council the need for extraordinary efforts to give to American war activities the force, precision, and rapidity which will provide effective assistance to the allies with the least possible delay.

Urges All America to Aid.
The secretary also gave out an interview to the press in which he called on the American people to support the government's war activities.

"The right arm of America is in France and it is bared ready for action and striking hard," Secretary Baker said. "The rest of the body is over here, and we must support and invigorate that arm."

For his own part and on behalf of the war department, the secretary pledged better results in speeding men and munitions to the fighting front. "The information I went to France to get I got, and the picture of the actual application of all this effort," Mr. Baker explained in outlining the results that might be expected to follow his visit to the front.

"I am now equipped with this means of judging and appreciating the kind of co-operation that the war department in America can give to that army that wouldn't have been possible without the visit to the actual field of battle," he continued. "It will undoubtedly lead to a much better co-operation between the war department and the army in France."

Makes Report to President.
Mr. Baker made a detailed report of conditions in the war zone to President Wilson, submitting a mass of data which he brought back with him.

Besides Secretary Baker there were present at the 24-hours conference with the president, Secretary Daniels, Chairman Baruch of the war industries board, Hurley of the shipping board, McCormick of the war trade board, Doctor Garfield, Mr. Hoover and John Skelton Williams, representing the director general of railroads.

No word of the military activities of American forces, or of the critical situation created for the allies by the German advance in Picardy and Flanders was spoken by Mr. Baker in his only conference with newspaper men.

Troops in Fine Condition.
"The condition of our soldiers in France is a thing that I am very happy to have an opportunity to tell in the widest possible way," said the secretary. "Our boys are well physically—big, strong, robust and healthy—and they are well in every other way. Their spirits are high, their behavior is most admirable, their relations with the French people and French soldiers and the British soldiers, to the extent I saw of them, were cordial and sympathetic."

"The healthfulness and wholesomeness about the American army over there is perfectly splendid," the secretary added with enthusiasm.

Of the military qualities of the American troops Mr. Baker said: "The American soldier has made good in France and French and British military authorities and critics uniformly praise the courage, endurance and soldierly qualities of the Americans."

On Peacemaking.
For a nation to make peace only because it is tired of war, and as it were in order just to take breath, is in direct subversion of the end and object of the war which was its sole justification. "This is like a poor wayward traveler getting up behind a coach that is going the contrary way to his," Coleridge (in 1805).

So Picture Won't Fall.
When hanging pictures always hang them with the face to the wall at first, then turn them without unhooking the wire. This leaves the wire twisted up at the hook, and when hung this way the jarring of the house will have no effect on them.

Japanese Theatrical Contrivance.
In olden Japanese theaters the scene was changed by revolving the whole stage on a turntable, bringing into view the scene the stagehands had been working on during the playing the previous act.

WORLD WANT

By BARNETTA BROWN of the Vigilantes.

Place your elbows on your knees put your head in your hands, and think. Many strange things are happening. Unprecedented conditions abound. Those who have carefully studied the world situation tell us that we may have to face widespread world want if we are not forthright and forehanded. With millions of men turned from their usual occupation of helping to provide the necessities of life, depending on others for food and clothing while they fight, the industrial order is thrown completely out of balance. The ship of state is passing through troubled waters. What can we do, what must we do, to insure safe passage?

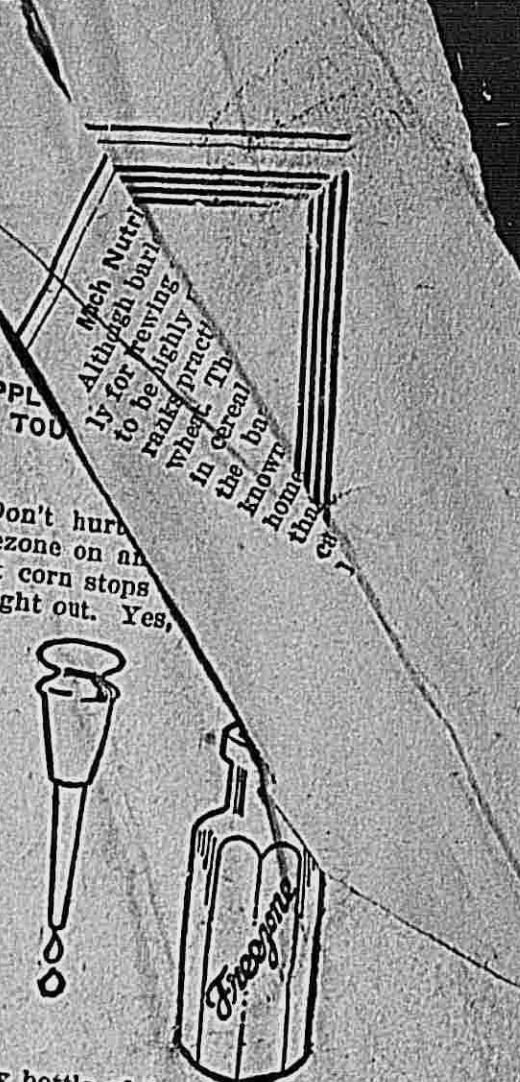

How to Prevent It.
World want cannot be prevented by hoardings. Neither is anyone's safety dependent on the amount of money he has hidden away. Safety depends on the same, wise, unselfish use of the resources of the nation. Every man's resources are the resources of the nation. Safety depends on the willingness of the individual to share now with the government every resource he possesses—thought, activities, money. The right, free use of these, our powers, should be towards production, not restriction. Of what avail will money be later, if there should be little or nothing to buy? The government is trying to speed up production. It will try harder by-and-by. Help on towards your own safety and the safety of all by helping the government.

Therefore, buy Thrift stamps, War Savings stamps, Liberty bonds. So do you put your hand, with all the other hands, on the helm of our ship, and become one of the pilots who will steer it through the storm to a safe harbor.

the hoe or rake, pull clods and stones from around the plants, remove any weeds not destroyed by the cultivation, and uncover any plants accidentally covered by clods or earth during the cultivation.
It is an excellent plan to train to-matos, peas, etc., on stakes or other supports, as this makes it possible to keep the garden in good condition with a minimum of labor.

ERADICATE GARDEN PEST

Most Effective Method of Combating Nematode Gallworms is to Starve It to Death.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The very serious losses caused by the gallworm nematode in gardens, especially in the South, have resulted in the trial of numerous methods of control. One of the most effective methods yet tested is to starve the pest.
This may be accomplished by dividing the garden into two parts, one of which is available for cultivation, fowls being kept on the other half and changed from one to the other about every two to four years. The gallworm is absolutely dependent on the roots of the higher plants for its nourishment. If no such plants are allowed to grow, the pest is starved, and in the course of a year or two it can be brought to a stage where its ravages will not be serious.
Alternate Garden and Fowl Run.
The suggested alternation of fowl run with garden may be brought about simply by fencing in the fowls. If possible, it would be well to arrange the division of the land in the direction of its slope, so that the drainage will not be from the garden to the fowl run or vice versa. The idea is to keep the fowl run free from vegetation for a year or two. This means that about the maximum number of fowls for the area must be kept and that the soil must be occasionally spaded or otherwise stirred. This stirring of the soil is a good thing for the fowls and helps also to reduce the nematode pest, for every time the earth is spaded fresh soil is brought to the action of the sun and air and becomes more or less disinfected through their action on the eggs and larvae of the pest.
There are thousands of gardens
where this procedure is practicable.
Definite information with regard to the existence of the gallworm nematode may be obtained by submitting abnormal roots to the department of agriculture for examination.

MUCH PLANT FOOD IS LOST

Anywhere From Twenty to Sixty Per Cent of Fertilizer is Wasted by Elements of Weather.

The results of experiments carried on by experiment stations in this country and Canada show that anywhere from twenty to sixty per cent of the real plant food contained in manure is lost where the manure is exposed to the leaching and wasting of the weather, for from two to eight months, as the manure on so many farms is allowed to be before being returned to the soil.
Planting Carrots.
Carrots planted in the early spring are used commonly in the fall as well as during the summer, but a much more tender product is obtained for fall and winter use if a second planting is made about June 15 to July 1.
Favorite Garden Plants.
Radishes and lettuce are favorite plants in small gardens because, while these are attractive additions to the table, they are in a way luxuries on which many housewives hesitate to spend money.
Phosphate is Needed.
Such vegetables as beans, peas, radishes, cantaloupes, peppers, eggplant, etc., require considerable phosphate results. It possible it most soils to supplement with acid phosphate.

HUMUS OF MUCH IMPORTANCE

Adds Plant Food and Makes It Available--It Supplies Media in Which Bacteria Live.

Humus adds plant food and makes plant food available. It supplies media in which the bacteria live and multiply, causing chemical changes in the soil which make the plant food elements soluble and available to plant roots. It enlivens the soil, giving good dith and a texture favorable to soil aeration and to the absorption and holding of soil moisture.
Garden Peas Favorite Crop.
Garden peas are a favorite crop in the home garden, and as they are not injured easily by light frosts, they may be planted as soon as the soil can be put in order in the spring. By selecting a number of varieties to successive a crop in a season, while the American French armies to be recorded.

A CONVERSATION

Between Mr. Doubtful and Mr. Right

Mr. Doubtful: "I don't see how I can buy any more Liberty Bonds. I bought all I could last fall. I'm not a rich man and I don't think it's fair or just to expect me to do anything more than I have done."
Mr. Right: "Let's see—your next-door neighbor's boy enlisted, didn't he?"
Mr. Doubtful: "Yes, he's over in France now. Mighty fine, stalwart boy, that!"
Mr. Right: "Exactly, and some day that splendid boy, the pride of his parents' hearts, may go 'over the top' in a gallant charge, stop a German bullet, and fall in the mud and debris of No Man's Land.
Isn't that asking too much of him, and of his family? Is that 'fair'? Is that 'just'?"
Mr. Doubtful: "Why, it's awful, of course, but it can't be helped. This is war, and men have to be killed in it."
Mr. Right: "You've said it—this is war! To win the war it might be necessary for the government to take your factory away from you, and ruin your business. It might be necessary to take your house and turn you out in the street.
What of that? Is that as great a sacrifice as your neighbor makes, or stands read to make, when he gives his boy to country? Yet you don't think it's duty to pinch and save, and boy need be, in order to buy Liberty and thus help shorten the war, mak-tory certain, and save the lives of sands of American boys who will wise be uselessly sacrificed."
Mr. Doubtful: "I guess that's true, Mr. Right, I have been thoughtless. I'll stop complaining and criticism, and put up my last dollar if need be, to help win this war."
